Class History

In September, 1925, the Liberal Arts College of the University of Louisville was undergoing radical changes. Its campus up to that time had been merely the front and back yards of a large, old residence, which had been converted into a building with limited space for quarters. The stairs were worn and rickety; the floors creaked; the old iron grates had outlived their usefulness. The dramatic workshop had formerly been a carriage-shed. Save to an esoteric few, the University was of little interest to the citizens of Louisville at large. But through the generosity of the highly esteemed Belknap family, there arose new hopes and aspirations for a better University. The trustees purchased a large tract of land, which was destined to become the home of the University, and named it Belknap Campus. Since this site had been used by an industrial school, there were sufficient buildings to provide for classrooms and the like. Shortly after this, an endowment drive netted several million dollars, which, with another million voted to the University by the citizens of Louisville, made possible even greater changes. The University had its first real Administration Building, patterned after that of the University of Virginia. Through the untiring efforts of the dramatic instructor, a Little Theatre was built. The library, which our acting President, Dr. Patterson, started not so many years ago, received comfortable quarters in the Administration Building. All the departments of the College of Liberal Arts were expanded in order to take care of the increasing number of students each year. Physically, then, the University of Louisville has grown.

Great progress, too, has been made socially. New sororities and fraternities, both social and honorary, have been installed; each of these organizations has its house, which promotes general fellowship and congeniality. The diversified fields of athletics have greatly broadened; each year, athletics makes a more popular appeal. The student-body is supporting the major branches of athletics; greater interest is being instilled. The University of Louisville Players' Club has perhaps attracted more of the students than any other activity because its inherent interest is greater. We have witnessed many outstanding performances and enjoyed them. We believe that our Little Theatre suffers no slight in being compared with those of other Universities, and we are proud of it. The University offers ample opportunity for every student to identify himself with one or more of its organizations; it welcomes into its various activities those who would participate.

Physically and socially the University has grown. What intellectual strides it has made is a question each must decide for himself; it is not to be answered in sweeping generalizations. As a body, we who are the graduating class have tried, through our endeavor to create a more crystallized University spirit, to promote the welfare and advancement of the University; to instil a greater love for the University; and, lastly, we have tried through the co-operation of our instructors to make ourselves more fit and capable to undertake whatever lines of endeavor we shall individually follow. We sincerely hope that the coming classes will carry on the old tradition of the University of Louisville.

"OOBRE-GOOBRE GOTZ or YOU GOT IT, MAID"

A "most impohtant" play in 5 scenes.

SCENE 1. The curtain rises as two manicurists file off the stage. Ikey Wilder follows. No runs, no hits, no errors! Joe Yowell, the Campbellsville Angler, is hanging out of the window. He is fishing. Enter Dr. Kornhauser. Joe catches—the Dickens. "Fold your paper, move!" On to Minnesota. Go West, young man. (With feeling.)

SCENE 2. The Physiology Laboratory.

Gellerich and Mrs. Feemster are playing Tiddley-Winks with Kymograph drums. The one remaining cat takes a last and final breath. Dr. Caskey displays the heart and begins massaging vigorously.

Enter Dr. Hamilton:—"How is the revival meeting coming along?"

A female voice off-stage calls, "E-a-r-r-r!"

"Can you hear me back there, Joe?"

SCENE 3. The Ampitheatre.

Enter Coursey, Baxter, Claydon, Klein, Chandler and his moustache. All are dressed in hunting attire. The presumption is that they are going out to shoot craps. The late Mr. Huth arrives. He has just been to hear Dr. Jack Porter address the local W. C. T. U. on "Sixteen Cases of Absolute and Relative Abstinence with Conclusions and Prognosis."

H. V. Noland and H. H. Moody march off arm in arm chanting "Thus, true friendship, etc., etc." Bushart doesn't sing. Dr. Graves just smoked the last one.

SCENE 4. The Ampitheatre.

The room is filled. Dr. Hunter, dressed in the uniform of a probation nurse, is delivering an address to the Jefferson County Post of the Gentlemen's Auxiliary of Nurses' Homes. The telephone rings. Bell answers and returns. "Annie Speaker Fish calling Gene Austin Clark." Louis Baer is gnashing his teeth with envy. Charlie Blandford is caught swiping four quarts (of buttermilk).

Miss Dorsey blows her whistle.

SCENE 5. Medical Dispensary.

Peggy Limper is squirting water down Max Garon's throat with a fire hose. She is forcing fluids. Carlina Bendler and Harryet Fenton are displaying the latest PARIS creations in voile, chiffon, or what have you.

"Wanted—to exchange combs, good as new, for Turkish towel.—G. A. Gressle." Whisper, "Has he called the roll?"

It is not uncommon in these conditions to have more than 5 scenes.

SCENE 6. The Gayety.

Gus Lavøhrun, Producer, presents
"The Gambler's Urge or A Dollar to a Doughnut"
By W. A. Jenkins, featuring
The Ray Boys.

Mr. Chester and The Count occupy a box. Dr. Storts, dressed in an operating uniform, is standing on a ladder taking tickets. "Hey, hey, Teague, your diploma can't get you into that show." Applause as Kelsey and Mr. Taber are elected to the Republican National Committee. If you pass down quietly, you may all leave in terne.

THE END.

P. S. We would have mentioned J. R. Gott, Jr., but he was asleep.

Class History

Scarcely four years ago, we-members of the class of '29, made the most important decision the mind of youth can be called upon to make. Realizing, for the first time, perhaps, our greatest sense of responsibility, we decided that the School of Dentistry, University of Louisville, should be burdened with the task of educating us to the standards of the dental profession.

Twenty-five young men crowd the campus of the School of Dentistry a certain morning in September, 1925. Small men, tall men, gruff voiced individuals and others not so afflicted, quiet men, bold men, all are represented and all, save one, are strangers in a strange town.

This unorganized group is the class of '29 in embryonic form.

We are not permitted to remain long in idleness. Duty, disguised in the robes of Anatomy, calls us to a solution of its mysteries. We assemble in a room, dimly lit, whose four walls surround various shapes—the shells of what once were men. Surely we see a movement of the forms before us. Our initial direct contact with the cadaver shocks into a realization of the seriousness of our purpose. That first semester is a true test of our sincerity and determination.

Time passes and so do some members of the class. Returning to the attack at the beginning of our Sophomore year, we welcome five new faces to our ranks. These transfers from Ohio College of Dental Surgery in Cincinnati included a young lady and four young men. With characteristic adaptability we lost no time in becoming acquainted, and soon we were again well launched on our journey in search of added knowledge. Our trials of that second year were similar to those of the first. History swiftly and magically carries us to the turning point in our dental education.

In September, 1927, we strive to deny all thoughts of vacation joys and again open our books, heavy with the dust of summer months. With stout heart and shaking hand, we seat our first patient. It is a trial for both of us. Man's complement of teeth numbers thirty-two. We see twice that many. Through the mirror we direct our instrument toward one location, but actually apply it directly opposite. Finally, in desperation we discard the mirror and resort to the position that Black states must be avoided. Trials we experienced certainly. Were it not for the actual pleasure we derived from the work, we could not have proceeded to—

Our senior year and our day of graduation. Armed with the knowledge gleaned in the past few years, we still have the courage to admit that what appears as the end to some, is but a beginning.

No longer may we depend entirely upon those who guided and initiated us into the mysteries of the profession. The time has come when we must bid each other good-by. Our close associations with faculty and fellow students soon will be our memories. The sun sets on our college days and another period in our development is over. But we are determined that Dentistry shall not fail us nor shall we fail the profession.

We do not expect to find it

"Roses, roses, all the way with myrtle mixed."

But we shall face life and its reverses staunchly, standing straight and foursquare to all the winds that blow. We shall then

"Welcome each rebuff
That turns earth's smoothness rough,
Each sting that bids nor sit, nor stand, but go.
Be our joys three parts pain,
Strive and hold cheap the strain,
Learn nor account the pang
Dare, never grudge the throe."

Class History

In the fall of 1926, the venerable building that was once the most modern office building in the City of Louisville, later an hostelry of the old order, and, at this time, the School of Law of the University of Louisville, opened its rusty-hinged portals to the strangest array of individuals it had ever known.

Boys, all of them boys were; boys, who although apparently lacked a zeal for study, baffled the sedate faculty with a showing of brilliance from their collegiately unhatted heads whenever called upon for an examination of their knowledge; boys, whose greatest ambition seemed to be the successful throwing of four consecutive sevens in a game of dice, yet who exhibited on all occasions a knowledge of the Sovereign's Law which would do credit to many experienced members of the Bar; boys, whose interest in the Law at times appeared secondary to numerous other activities in which all of them excelled, but who, like Sinbad's Old Man of the Sea, hung on to an assiduous and successful study of the Law, passing most difficult examinations of instructors who could not see through their apparent lack of industry; these boys comprised the class of 1929.

With our class, came the advent of the Law School into the activities of the University. Although the School had never before participated in extra-curriculum activities, many of our class were the most important members of athletic teams, of University clubs and organizations, and of student publications.

These boys, with an excellent training in the Law, with successful experiences in various other endeavors, and with capable minds and able personalities have only just begun a history of which the Class, the School, and the University will some day be justly proud.

The Alumni Association of the University of Louisville

For two and one-half years there has been in existence an organization known as the Alumni Association of the University of Louisville. In fact, on March 15, 1927, this organization drew its first breath of life and in the short interval since that time, has grown into a well-developed organization that serves as conscientiously and thoroughly as possible the 8,000 graduates of the University of Louisville, scattered throughout every State in the Union and representing the Schools of Medicine, Law, Dentistry, and the College of Liberal Arts.

It is the aim of this organization to keep alive and further the ideals inculcated in the University; to strengthen and add to the ties that bind the alumni to each other and thus to the University; and keep the University a creative force in the daily existence of those who started their careers on the campus.

As a first step toward realizing this goal, a full-time secretary with offices in the Alumni Headquarters, Belknap Campus, has been appointed, with power to supervise and advise in all matters, both social and business, pertaining to the Alumni Association. From this office is issued the Alumni Bulletin, a Magazine published quarterly each year in the interest of the alumni and the University. In this office are held the business and social meetings of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association, as well as similar meetings of individual councils representing the various schools in the University. In this office are held the Fireside Meetings, the meetings of the Alumni Players, and the Alumni Chemistry Club. In fact, the Alumni Headquarters have become a clearing house for all alumni affairs.

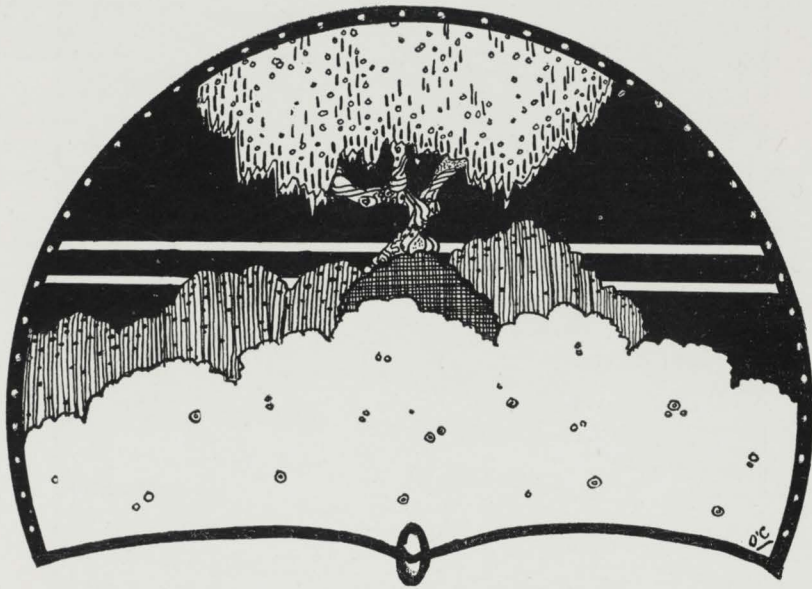

The Alumni Hotel Association also sponsored this year an Alumni Dinner at the Brown Hotel, Louisville, which was attended by alumni of all the schools of the University, as well as by many prominent citizens. Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, President of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, was the speaker at the dinner and delivered an inspiring talk on "The University and the City."

The Board of Directors of the Alumni Association is made up as follows:

Herbert F. Boehl, President, School of Law
 Dr. J. Garland Sherrill, Vice-President, School of Medicine
 Mrs. Robert L. Johnston, Vice-President, College of Liberal Arts
 Dr. George H. Means, Vice-President, School of Dentistry
 Judge William H. Field, Vice-President, School of Law
 John E. Heller, Secretary, College of Liberal Arts
 Judge Huston Quin, Treasurer, School of Law
 Dr. John T. O'Rourke, Director, School of Dentistry
 Leonard C. Brecher, Director, College of Liberal Arts
 Dr. Orville B. Coomer, Director, School of Dentistry
 Dr. Emmet F. Horine, Director, School of Medicine
 Dr. Philip F. Barbour, Director, School of Medicine
 Dr. William B. Doherty, Director, School of Medicine
 Dr. R. P. Overstreet, Director, School of Dentistry
 Mrs. Robert F. Vaughan, Director, College of Liberal Arts
 Thomas A. Barker, Director, School of Law
 Grace Watson Driscoll, Executive Secretary, College of Liberal Arts

To the graduates of the class of 1929 is extended a cordial invitation to become an integral part of this Alumni Association to be Alumni not only in name, but to realize to the fullest the joys that active participation in alumni work invariably bestows. Great things are expected from our Alumni Association, for united in heart and desire, as well as in mere physical organization, by that enthusiasm, that interest, that earnestness of purpose that has always characterized the alumni of the University of Louisville, our attainments should know no bounds.

History of the Pioneer Class of 1929

It was evident to professors and instructors of the Engineering School, recently come into being, that they had received an unusual lot of "raw material" when the group of seventy-two rookies applied for entrance into the first class of the new school in September, 1925. This first freshman class had not the usual worries of the breed in that their were no upper-classmen to apply soothing strokes to the situatory region for certain minor breaches of college etiquette. They made up for this lack of torture, however, by adorning their nether extremities with uniform salt-and-pepper corduroys, formally adopted as distinguishing apparel by the class. It may readily (and correctly) be supposed that this class, free from sophomore torment, established sufficient precedent in that line when given the opportunity by the entrance of the second group of freshmen in 1926. Freshman Rules were established by the newly organized Sophomore Class and woe betide any wearer of the freshman cap who weareth not the same!

Charles Lamar, one of the honor students of the freshman year, was elected to lead the Sophomore class through its glorious course as president thereof. Many fell by the wayside during the latter part of the first year so that our numbers were nearly halved at the beginning of the second year's work. The class was divided into two groups for the co-operative work and substitute officers were elected for those who had to be away from school. On October 5, 1926, the class presented to Dean B. M. Brigman, a bronze tablet in memory and appreciation of his work in organizing the school. This tablet has been set into the wall of the main hall of the Engineering Building. A second and third noteworthy achievement of the sophomore class consisted of the presentation to the entire University a large American Flag to grace the slender steel mast which then occupied the center of the campus; and the giving of a new bass drum to the U. of L. Band. At about this time, Elmer Dilley won a cash prize offered for the best name for the new school publication. His title was the "Speed Spieler," a paper which still exists.

On January 27, 1927, parents were invited to visit the school at a meeting held that evening and were entertained by the class with an inspection trip over the building and with refreshments. Enthusiasm among the paters and maters ran high for was not this the institution in which their pride and glory was being prepared for a meteoric career? Amen! At a class meeting held during the spring of '27, the class rings were selected and the designs ordered prepared in anticipation of senior ranks. Early bird stuff! Kenneth Brown, later a star on the Varsity Basketball squad, was elected president of the Junior Class and the group, diminished still further by the ravages of flunking profs and indisposition, settled down for real work. Members of the Junior Class could testify that much was accomplished in scholastic work during that year, although little of outstanding importance appears on the records.

When the class came to the home-stretch, the Senior year, it numbered but twenty, a reduction of seventy-two per cent. Joe Overstreet, all-around leader of the class, was appropriately chosen president to steer us safely home and he did the work well, no further casualties occurring. We believe that the Pioneer Class of '29 has made history in the University by establishing class precedents and preparing the way for future aspiring engineers to tread. We have carried the torch high. We leave it to our successors to raise it still higher!

History of the Speed Scientific School

In 1924, Mr. William S. Speed and Mrs. Frederic M. Sackett, endowed, as a memorial to their father, the James Breckenridge Speed Foundation for the establishment and perpetuation of a School in the University of Louisville to care for the study and advancement of the sciences related to engineering.

A previous study of the methods in engineering education having been made, the Speed Scientific School rapidly took form, and in September, 1925, it opened its doors to students interested in Chemical, Civil, Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering.

Today, after four years of work, it is recognized both in other engineering schools and in the profession itself as being one of the outstanding schools in the country. Its faculty, course of study, and equipment have been most favorably commented upon by technical societies and by visitors from both industrial and educational associations.

TOM KING
Athletic Coach

Since the advent of Tom King to the helm of the athletic ship at the Cardinal Institution, the school has enjoyed success as it never before had.

Coach King, who is a product of the Rockne coached Notre Dame teams, came to the University of Louisville in the fall of 1925. He brought with him, or perhaps better, there followed him, practically the entire national championship football team of the school he was leaving. These boys, together with others, have been the means whereby Tom King went through the 1925 football without a single defeat or a single score being made against them. They have also won for their coach two basketball championships, one track title, and one baseball crown. Besides this, Mr. King has produced two state championship tennis teams and one state championship freshman tennis team. He has made his cross country teams a power in this section of the country, and he has developed a system of intramural basketball games and tennis matches that are the envy of many of the larger eastern institutions.

Assisting Coach King, are Ray Baer, an "All-American" football guard from Michigan, and Jim White, a Virginia product, who has charge of the Freshmen.

This coaching staff has met with success and it is hoped that it will not take to heart the record of this past year's football team.

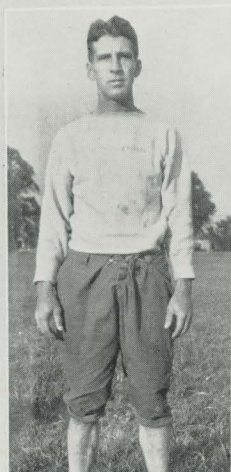

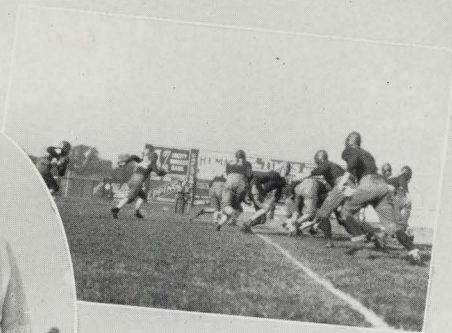

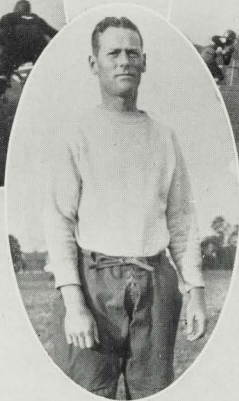

To be sure, such a record is not to be proud of, but the "breaks" of the game were simply against the coaches and the team, and they are certain to turn in the near future. Any person, or any team can be a victim of circumstances—that, unfortunately, was the lot of the Cards during the fall of 1928.

W. E. CRADDOCK
Winner of Kiwanis Club Cup for being most outstanding man in Athletics.

Varsity Football

EASTERN KENTUCKY TEACHER'S COLLEGE—The 1928 football season was opened at Louisville, on October 6, with Eastern State Normal furnishing the opposition. The result of the game was an overwhelming victory for the University of Louisville, the score being 72 to 0.

UNIVERSITY OF DETROIT—On the following Saturday, Detroit was met on their grounds and after a hectic struggle in which they were completely outplayed during the first quarter, they finally subdued the Louisville team to the score of 46 to 0.

In this game U. L. played much nicer football than the score indicates. The University of Detroit completed their schedule without a single defeat and were chosen by many critics as the outstanding college football team in the country.

UNIVERSITY OF CHATTANOOGA—On October 20, Chattanooga was met on their lot and it was this game that just about wrecked the University of Louisville, both physically and morally. The score was 72 to 0, favor of the Southern eleven, but that was not the discouraging feature of the game. After Earl and LaRue had been injured so severely in the Detroit game, the Chattanooga club then proceeded to further disable the Cardinal football club by breaking McDonald's arm and fracturing Thompson's shoulder. The result of this disaster was that before the season had hardly got a good start, Coach King had lost the services of four of his regulars.

TRANSYLVANIA—The following Saturday the Cardinals performed for the people of Louisville at Parkway Field. Transy defeated the Cardinal representatives, which incidentally was the third loss in as many starts, by the score of 18 to 0.

It was simply a case of a good big man against a good little man and the inevitable result was that the good big man won. The revamped Louisville club could not cope with the superior playing of the best team to represent Transylvania in the last couple of decades and the Cardinal eleven is to be congratulated on its showing in spite of the loss.

WESTERN KENTUCKY TEACHER'S COLLEGE—The next Saturday, November 3, Western Normal was played at Bowling Green, and it was pretty much a repetition of the previous Saturday's performance. Practically the only difference was that the Bowling Green club was figured to win by a much larger score than 19 to 0, and once again the Cardinal eleven is to be congratulated on its showing.

CENTRE—The following Saturday Centre was met at Manual Stadium and again the University of Louisville representatives were on the losing end of the score to the tune of 7 to 0.

The field was a mire of mud and the game was anybody's until the lone score was made by a Centre back scooping up a fumble and racing some forty yards for a touchdown.

ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY—On November 17, St. Louis University defeated the Louisville aggregation at Sportman's Park, St. Louis, for the sixth successive time.

The score was 12 to 0 and on paper it was figured to have been much larger.

The Cardinals played nice ball in this game and with a "break" or two, might have outdone themselves to the extent of a win. However, the "break" never came and once again the team was forced to admit defeat.

MARSHALL—The last game of the season was played at Louisville, on November 24, against Marshall College, of Huntington, West Virginia. The West Virginians won the contest by the score of 13 to 0, after a fierce struggle which thrilled the fans who had remained loyal to the unlucky Cardinals.

THE MANAGERIAL STAFF, headed by Stanley Ousley who was assisted by "Dink" Ousley, "Caesar" Burlingame and John Dickinson, deserves much praise and credit for the efficient manner in which it performed its duties. The glory and acclaim go to the team and its coaches, and rightly so; but this glory and acclaim is frequently made possible, to a considerable extent, by the efforts of those who work behind the scene, and a managerial staff does just that.

It is a hard and often thankless job to manage a football team, and the team and the school realize this and appreciate the services rendered by the 1928 staff.

Freshman Football

The Card yearlings, like their varsity brothers, won only a single football contest, but unlike their varsity brothers, lost three, instead of seven.

However, any freshman football team labors under a severe handicap in that their paramount objective is to furnish practice opposition to the varsity.

Coach White deserves great credit for his record. His was a most difficult assignment and he certainly carried it out with the dexterity of a master.

The teams encountered were Centre, played at Danville, Western Normal, played at Bowling Green, Transy, at Lexington, and Eastern Normal at Louisville. Eastern was the only team to be defeated by the U. L. Frosh.

Basketball

Varsity Basketball

For the first time in history, the S. I. A. A. basketball championship of Kentucky was won by the same team for two successive years. The Cardinals accomplished this record-breaking performance by coping the annual tournament at Winchester. The Cards defeated Wesleyan, in the finals, by 31-28 to win the title.

Throughout the season the team played in and out basketball. The season was auspiciously opened by a neat win over North Carolina, the Southern Conference champs, by the score of 27 to 19. It was in this opening encounter of the season that Bob Hall and Chappell were discovered as real "finds." Neither of these lads played varsity basketball prior to this year, but their performances throughout the season were equal to the best efforts of the most seasoned veterans.

After winning from North Carolina, the Cards played listlessly, winning slightly more than fifty per cent of the games on the schedule.

Georgetown and Centre were the tourney favorites, with Western Normal being the dark horse. In the opening game the University of Louisville forced Eastern Normal from the list of possible contenders by defeating them by a score of 25 to 12.

Centre was next met in the semi-finals and the Cards revenged the early-season defeat by forcing them from the tourney by a score of 33 to 21.

Wesleyan's fighting bunch was then met and defeated, in the finals 31 to 28.

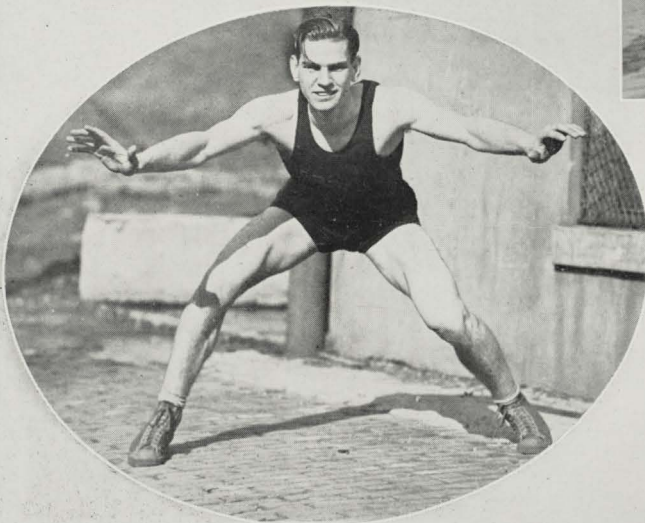

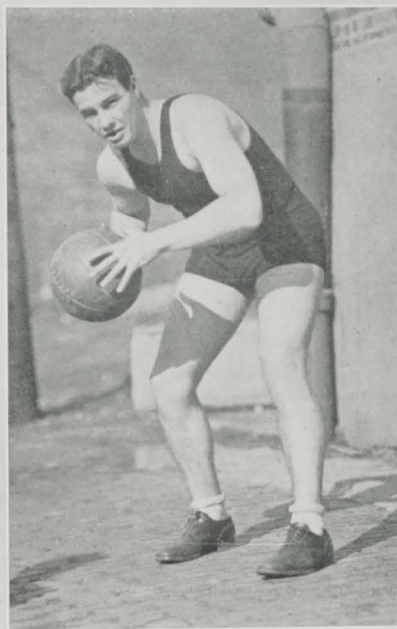

The final contest was a thriller from start to finish. The lead see-sawed from side to side throughout the entire period of play and it was not until the last couple of minutes that it looked as though the Louisville team would win.

Thompson received the award for being the most valuable man to his team, and he was also selected as an "All-State" guard. Bert Libbey, the fighting center of the Cardinal team, was unanimously selected to fill that same position on the "All-State" team.

Letters were awarded to:
 Browne
 Chappell
 Craddock

Hall
 Libbey
 Spencer

Thompson
 Vogt, Student Manager

Freshman Basketball

While the U. L. Frosh are making no claims to any championships, still it is a significant fact that Kentucky State was the only Frosh team to lose to the Cardinal quintet.

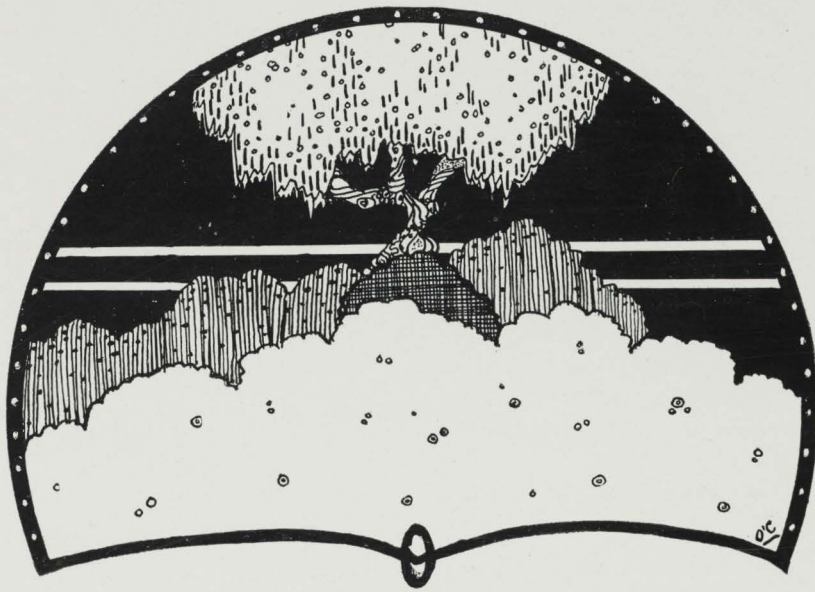

Games were played with the leading Freshman teams of Kentucky colleges and while many were lost, still there was always apparent the fact that the Card club was not measuring up to its natural ability.

Coach White had a nice system worked out, but it seemed as though something always happened in the games and team work was often overlooked. This was due to no fault of either coach or team, it was simply a coincident.

Duffy also managed freshman basketball and he did a nice job of it, too. The school appreciates his efforts.

Letters were awarded to the following men:

BOTT	McKINNEY
DAUBERT	MOSS
EMRICH	NEWMAN
McCUTCHAN	SCOTT
McDEVITT	SHEARER

Minor Sports

Varsity Track

1928

The track team participated in two meets, the annual state affair, at Danville, and dual meet with Berea. The Cards lost their title at the state meet, being compelled to accept a verdict of third place, and Berea nosed out a win by two points.

Uncas Miller and Charles Williams were the most consistent point-winners on the squad and it was due largely to their efforts that the team was even kept in the chase.

"Dink" Ousley, the congenial manager, performed the duties incident to his office in a most pleasing and convincing manner. His services were appreciated and he is congratulated on his record. Jack Hopkins, the "Mississippi Baby," assisted "Dink" and these two lads probably made the most popular pair of managers ever to take the helm of a U. L. team.

Letters were given: Cates, Koster, Mayhall, Ousley, Manager, Williams.

Varsity Track

The track aspirants have just begun to practice as this book goes to press. These men are determined to regain the championship which was won two years ago, and from appearances their ambition should certainly materialize.

Two lettermen, Williams and Cates, from last year's team are again eligible. Taylor, too, has finally fulfilled all necessary requirements, as laid down by the school authorities, and is rapidly rounding into the form he has displayed in the past.

Stanley Ousley, who runs the high and low hurdles and also throws the javelin, is practicing daily and in a couple of weeks will be at the peak of his form. Ousley is the only letterman from the championship squad of 1927 who is eligible for competition this year.

Braddey, who holds several records, principally in the high jump and pole vault, is the outstanding freshman product.

With these five men as a nucleus, it appears as though another title is in store for the school.

Jack Hopkins, the freshman manager last year, will manage the team during the 1929 campaign.

Varsity Baseball

1928

The 1928 Cardinal artists enjoyed only a moderately successful season, winning slightly more than fifty per cent of the games played.

Georgetown, Centre, Wesleyan and Kentucky State were the outstanding teams met and Georgetown was the only club to suffer two defeats at the hands of the Cardinals.

Robertson, at first, Roth in the outfield and Craddock behind the bat, were the outstanding players during the season. Brennan, at short, also turned in a neat record for the season.

Letters were awarded to: Brennan, Craddock, Coblin, Groot, Koster, Mann, Manager, Mitchell, McDonald, Mooreman, Robertson, Roth, Spencer, Weber.

Varsity Baseball

The baseball team has not as yet been requested to report for practice, as this book goes to press, but if past material may be used as a criterion, the 1929 club should regain the 1927 state title which was lost last year.

A representative schedule of two games with the Kentucky S. I. A. A. teams is being worked out by Coach King and Manager Van Arsdale, and there will also be several games played with other colleges. State will again be met, as no doubt will Tennessee and possibly one other prominent southern nine.

The returning letter men will be the redoubtable "Big Jim Tom" Robertson, at first; Billy Mitchell, at second; Dawson Attkisson and Charlie Spencer, at third; Harvey Jefferies, in the box; and "Froggy" Craddock behind the bat. Ford Fishback, the "Terrible Albino," and letterman on the championship 1927 club, will again be available for work either in the outfield or the infield.

These above-named men will unquestionably form the nucleus of the 1929 baseball club and because of this fact a banner year is expected.

The Graduating Athletes

Dawson Attkisson—Dawson has the rather unique distinction of having served the school both as an athletic manager and an actual participant. He managed the second freshman football team ever sponsored by the school and the first freshman basketball team which the school supported. He also found time to play third base on the baseball team for three years, making his letter in 1927 and 1929. Attkisson graduates from the School of Liberal Arts in June.

Kenneth Browne—"Brownie" was a regular end on the football team in 1927 and 1928. He was also a regular guard on the two State Championship basketball teams in 1927 and 1928. In 1927, "Kenny" was selected as "All-State" Guard on the mythical state team. Browne has been a power in Kentucky Collegiate athletics during the past two years and it is hoped that success will continue to follow him. He finishes his course at the Speed Scientific School in June.

R. J. Elsler, Jr.—"Dick" played right guard on the football team for four years, being eligible in his freshman year for varsity competition because at that time the University had not entered the ranks of the S. I. A. A. Elsler weighed but one hundred and fifty pounds, so it is evident that the boy has a lot of ability. One hundred and fifty-pound college guards are not so easy to find. In his senior year, on the shipwrecked 1928 eleven, "Dick" was compelled to play end, and be it said to his credit that his performance was as noteworthy at that position as it had always been while he played guard. Elsler receives his LL.B. this June.

Ford Fishback—This lad came to U. L. from Notre Dame, after having been assured a position the following year on Rockne's famous eleven. "The Albino" played regular guard for three years, being selected a member of the "All-State" Team in 1926. He was also a member of the State Championship baseball team of 1927, playing both the infield and the outfield. Fishback graduates from the Law School in June, 1929, but he is ineligible for further athletic participation according to the rules of the S. I. A. A.

Harvey Mayhall—Harvey receives his DD.S. this June, after having made a most remarkable record both in his scholastic attempts and his athletic achievements. He played regular fullback on the football team in 1924, 1925, 1926 and 1927. In 1927 he also captained the team and in 1925 and 1926 he was chosen "All-State" fullback. Mayhall also was a member of the track team in 1925, 1926, 1927 and 1928. His efforts were a very material factor in the winning of the state track title in 1927. More power to you, Harvey!

Stanley Ousley—"The Senator" is another student who participated in athletics from two standpoints; namely, as manager and as a participant on the field of battle. In 1926, "Stan" managed the cross-country team, and in 1927 and 1928 he was assigned the rather difficult task of managing the football team. Besides this, he was a member of the freshman tennis team in 1925, which won the state championship, and also a member of the track team in 1926, 1927 and 1929. His efforts, too, were a contributing element in the success of the 1927 state championship track team. Ousley receives his LL.B. this February.

J. T. Robertson—"Robbie" is the BIG BLOND GIANT who has put the fear of the Lord into the hearts of centers from Florida to Michigan, and then east and west from West Virginia to Missouri. "Jim Tom" is another lad who was allowed four years of athletic competition and he took advantage of the opportunity to the fullest extent. He played baseball for four years, too, having been a regular first baseman during the entire period. Robertson was a member of the "All-State" football team in 1925 and 1926. During his last two years on the team he was entirely too well known to the opponents and consequently too well watched, the result was that his play was not so conspicuous, to the eyes of the public. That, however, is the price of fame. May it continue to be his after he gets his A.B. this June.

Lawrence Wetherby—"Chink," "Weth," or "W. Head," it really makes no difference, as the boy answers to any of them, was the other end on the football team during 1927 and 1928. Wetherby is another lad who was not endowed by nature with a football carriage, but by perseverance and hard work won the respect of both his teammates and foes. During the past football season he was injured, having severely sprained his ankle in the Detroit game. Nevertheless, even with the bad leg, he was a mighty nice little end. "Chink" also was a member of the baseball team in 1928 and 1929, receiving his letter the latter year. He completes his law course in June.

Hockey

The fall term of 1927 was the first year that hockey was played at the University of Louisville. That year, with three exceptions, the team was made up of Freshmen. The only rival team that could be found was the Louisville Normal School. The infant team of the University of Louisville, captained by Helen Anderson, went down in defeat before the Normal team. The U. of L. girls had practiced for several weeks without a Coach and without very much encouragement, but the spirit was there, and, too, the real desire to play the game.

The season of 1928 brought better luck to our team. Miss Lillian (Tucky) Sanders, who did wonders for the team in the short time she had had to guide it the year before, continued in the capacity of coach and good friend to the team. The new recruits from Girls' High, Atherton, and Kentucky Home did much to strengthen the team. It was given a practice field, balls, and goal posts. Then, too, a trip was promised, which, more than anything else, encouraged the team to bigger and better things.

The Hockey Team met and defeated two teams on its schedule. The first contest was played with Nazareth College, of Louisville, and was won by the overwhelming score of 11 to 0.

Later in the season, the team embarked by bus for Nashville, where Peabody College was encountered. The Card lassies won this game too, the score being 4 to 3.

This trip to Nashville was the first ever taken by a Southern girls' hockey team. Games are generally scheduled with local schools and clubs, when there is a team, and in this respect, the University of Louisville has taken a jump on the other Southern schools.

The girls receiving letters were:

"L" Club

The "L" Club is the youngest organization on the campus. It had its inception in necessity; a necessity which we of the athletic teams of the University saw for the establishment of a competitive spirit, so gravely lacking in the student body.

Thus, in order to establish this competitive spirit, we conceived the idea of inter-fraternity athletics and planned a year-round competition between the fraternities of the campus.

This competition has been entered into whole-heartedly by the various social and professional fraternities and we believe we have taken a great step toward our goal—the co-ordinating of the work of the coach, the student body, and the athlete, through the development of the competitive spirit, thus raising athletics at the University to a higher plane.

"L" Club Intra-Mural Sports

During the year of 1928-1929 intra-mural sports were started at the University of Louisville by the "L" Club. An extensive program was planned and most of the events were carried through. The intra-mural season was ushered in by an inter-fraternity cross-country run, which was captured by the harriers of Sigma Chi Sigma, who succeeded in placing three of the first five men. Dick Taylor, of the winning team, was the individual victor, and he was followed by Aubrey Cates of the second place Delta Sigmas, at a distance of about 150 yards. Theta Nu Epsilon was the only other Fraternity entered.

Basketball followed with an encouraging entry list of seven teams. This also was won by the Sigma Chi Sigmas, who by these two wins have amassed a total number of points that almost give them the possession of the Patterson Cup that is the yearly trophy for all around championship. The Sigma Chi Sigma team only lost one game, and defeated the winners of the medical-dental league in a one-sided game. Theta Nu Epsilon finished second with two losses. An all league team was composed of Don Groat, T. N. E., and Bobby Metzner, Apha Pi, at forwards Dick Taylor, Sigma Chi Sigma, Center, Billy Mitchell, Sigma Chi Sigma, and Lindsay McMahon, T. N. E., at guards.

The "L" Club has an even more ambitious program for next year and expects the school to be greatly benefitted by these sports. Much credit is due the man in charge of these sports for the work they did. Dick Taylor was chairman of the committee on intra-mural sports, which was composed of Aubrey Cates and Bennie MacDonald, President of the "L" Club.

Baseball, tennis, golf, track, and swimming are planned but these all will take place after the Thoroughbred has gone to press and cannot be reported here.

History of the "L" Club

Some of the letter men of the University of Louisville at the instigation of Bennie MacDonald met during the term of 1928½ to form the "L" Club. They were Bennie MacDonald, Harvey Jeffries, Charles Spencer, Aubrey Cates, Donald Groat, Kenny Browne, and Dick Taylor. They incorporated with the end in mind to promote intra-mural sports and to further the University in every way possible.

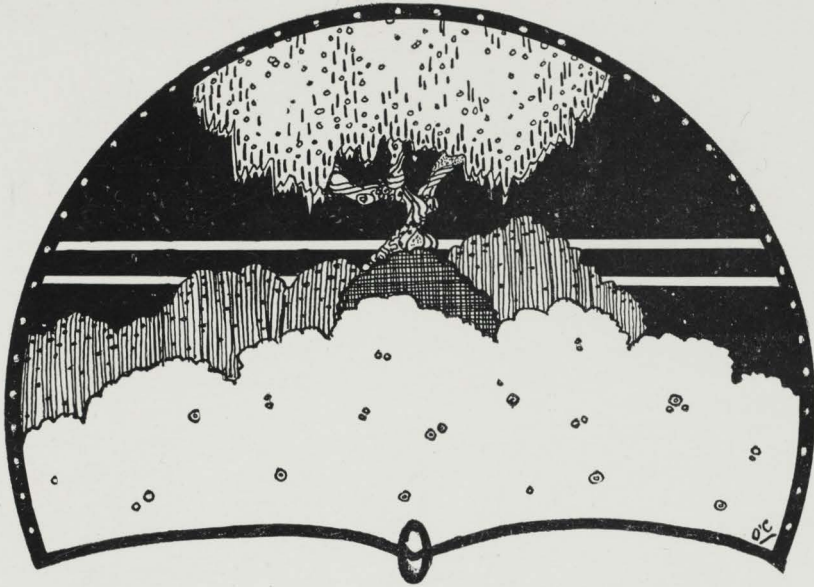

Their first officers were MacDonald, President; Spencer, vice president; Owen Mann, Secretary; Stanley Ousley, Treasurer, and Bill Dennes, Sergeant-at-Arms. Due to disinterest on the part of the secretary and treasurer, Aubrey Cates and Harvey Jeffries were elected to succeed them. The second term the same officers were made except that Dick Taylor was secretary, and Willard Thompson was Sergeant-at-Arms.

The membership at present is:

Tom King and Ray Baer, honorary members.

Buddy Pragoff, active graduate member.

BOYD MARTIN, Director

Wright, playing Taliaferro, the artist, was credited with the best work in this production. Betty Wooden and Cora Lee Marmor were distinctive in their roles, and put a finishing touch to the opening play.

The University of Louisville Players, celebrating their fifteenth and crystal anniversary season under the direction of Boyd Martin, have just completed their most successful season. The fifteenth season might well be said to have been the fond dream of Mr. Martin and Dr. Patterson come true, for it was a season of which any amateur organization in the country could well be proud.

The players opened their season with the production of "Expressing Willie," a psychological play by Rachel Crothers, on October 19 and 20. The play was enthusiastically received and served as a fine opening of the season. The play served also to bring some new faces to the players' audiences. Clara Mae Hartmetz, Julia Imorde, Morgan Galloway and Bill Watson were exceptionally pleasing in their first trial. Norman

The second play of the season was presented on November 16 and 17. For this occasion, the Players chose "Hell's Bells", an uproariously funny comedy by Barry Connors. In this production, Jere Shaw and Melville Hosch carried off the honors for the manner in which they played the two old Western gentlemen in New York. Margaret Hughes and Nancy Wells also gave performances worthy of mention. The play was entertaining and well done despite the shortness of time due to an interchange of dates with the Alumni Players.

Then, adding further fame and distinction, the University of Louisville Players undertook to produce for the first time on any stage, "Anchors," by Rollo Wayne, a former Player. According to critics, the skill of direction and of staging was perfect and added much to the play. Unusually good performances, given by the most important characters, Ed Goodin, Alice Ford Bauer, and John Watkins, helped to add a great deal of distinction to the production. The outstanding feature of the play was the beauty of picturization.

"My Lady's Dress," by Edward Knobloch, was presented as the Players' major production. Burton Blackwell and Betty Wooden, playing the two leading characters, gave perfect performances. The supporting cast in the play was quite well balanced and served to make the play one of the finest productions given by the Players in recent years. The play, which presented unusual staging difficulty, had never been presented by an amateur organization, but the Players' efficiency enabled them to present the play in a very pleasing manner.

On May 3 and 4, the University of Louisville Players closed their season with the presentation, for the first time in the United States, of "If Four Walls Told," a play of English village life by Edward Percy. Ed Goodin, playing David, the patriarch of the family gave the most impressive performance in the play. Elizabeth Attkisson and Robert Hendon carried their roles nicely. Colleen O'Brien, Sue Frances Perry, and Pauline Hughes were good, while William Burks, David Stry, and Elizabeth Feamster gave performances of merit in the roles they played. The play was unusually dramatic, and closed the Players' most successful season.

The season was the best the Players have had in many ways. First of all, it was a most unusual season, containing a world premiere and two plays which had never before been presented by amateur organizations in the United States. Each play was distinctly a success, and the end of the season found the Players with a substantial balance for the coming season. The Players and their director, Boyd Martin, deserve to be complimented and praised here, because they bring to the University of Louisville one of the best organizations of its kind in the country.

Congratulations, and the best of wishes for an even greater season next year.

Appreciation

The Alumni Players wish to take this opportunity to thank the members of the University of Louisville Players for the splendid aid and co-operation given during the past school year. Without their assistance it is doubtful if Alumni Players could have carried out the plans intended for the season.

We also wish to extend our thanks to Mr. Boyd Martin, director of both organizations, for his time and splendid direction which made our season a real success. Mr. Martin was the medium through which we were able to obtain the assistance and co-operation of the University of Louisville Players.

Every member of the graduating class of 1929 in the entire University of Louisville is invited to become an active member of the Alumni Players. Past experience is not necessary. There are no prerequisites. Send your application in the form of a short note addressed to me, in care of the University of Louisville. Former graduates are also urged to become active members.

EMBERT RICE, President
Alumni Players.

Editor's Note:- The foregoing pages have given the student body all the breaks possible. The good points of everyone have been emphasized. In the past years, the Thoroughbred has been content to let it stop at that. But the 1929 Thoroughbred has discovered some of the individual frailties, and in a spirit of humor, has "held a mirror up to nature." Only the great and near-great are made objects of caricature. Let that be solace for any wee hurt!

DISEASES PREVALENT AMONG FRATERNITY MEN

1. Kappalphitis. This disease has never been particularly widespread here, but it is quite prevalent in other localities, especially throughout the South, where great numbers are afflicted every year. Symptoms: this disease is marked by an abnormal desire for bad gin, and a more or less complete loss of moral responsibility. Persons afflicted with this disease frequently suffer from an enlarged ego, and are subject to various other delusions. Their minds are greatly weakened, and many of them join the Players Club and become bad actors. Persons particularly subject to this malady are social climbers, bridge hounds, and people who are in the habit of riding in very fine automobiles.

2. Sigmachisigmatism. This malady is peculiar to this locality, and, although very serious, has never afflicted many persons, though it is said to be on the increase, and authorities are expecting a periodical epidemic at any time. Symptoms: persons suffering from this disease almost always exhibit a marked tendency to campus politics, and are always running around engineering elections. Sometimes, also, patients thus afflicted suffer from an inordinate desire to pursue co-eds, which coupled with an enlarged inertia, and an acute distaste for work in any form, renders them useless for any kind of activity, except that of loafing around sorority house porches, and playing poker, bridge, and other games of chance. Happily, this disease does not strike many.

3. Deltasigitis. This terrible scourge is so widespread in this locality that no one may consider himself safe from it. Unlike the other diseases already described, it is liable to attack anyone, irrespective of race, creed, nationality, color, or previous condition of servitude. Symptoms: the symptoms of this serious malady are so varied that it is rather difficult to describe them. However, in most cases, the victim shows signs of mental weakening, which is evidenced by attempts to be collegiate, and blossoming forth in all sorts of John Held Jr. wearing apparel. People suffering from this malady usually exhibit other forms of insanity, and frequently suffer from delusions of grandeur; they are subject to periodic spells, or fits, of exultation, in which they talk wildly and incoherently with frequent references to "S. A. E." and we'll get it in two weeks." When in this state, they should be humored and treated kindly, or they are likely to become violent.

KAPPA ALPHA (Southern)

Chapter Song: "She'll get by as long as she has I."

Favorite odor: Talcum.

Favorite drink: Weak tea.

Motto: Dieu et les Dames (God and the Ladies).

Preferred type: Horn-blowers and amateur hatters.

Bray to Freshmen: We are the "ne plus ultra," of the 'vahsity. If you want to play Louisville "Society" Brother "Baby-Face" Pirtle and Brother Wilson will show you the way. If you wish to become a "Sheik," Brother Hendon will coach you, and Brother Price Starks will take care of the Post Graduate work. We have the Cardinals, and Brother "Chollie" O'Connell can beguile your leisure hours with music (?), and if you wish to take the downward path, Brothers Goodin and Blackwell will help you make the Players Club. We almost had an athlete once, and are expecting another momentarily. We do not go in very strong for the "Southern Gentleman" gag, for fear of offending the Brothers from Indiana, but we really have a charter from K. A. (Southern). Our greatest accomplishment is the re-pledging of Jimmy Pirtle for the fifth and last time.

T. N. E.

Favorite Song: "How Dry I am!"

Motto: None.

Favorite type: None, anybody will do.

Bray: Come on in, boys, we've been respectable-ized by a special dispensation from the Lord knows who; so don't believe all the terrible tales you hear about us. We are the bona fide Theta Nu Epsilon, and, we assure you, in no way connected with the old "T. N. E." Why, we don't even speak to the Brothers from the Medical School. Anyway, we have advantages. Brother Nufer, if you can find him, will get you out of jail or have you elected to something, and Brother Laban Wesley will show you how to pass your exams with the least amount of effort expended. The only way they kept Brother Litkenhous from being King of the Junior Prom was to call off the Prom; and he and Brother Knoop just about run the Engineering School, which isn't much, it is true, but which ought to count for something. Some day we hope to buy the Orthophonic Victrola which impressed everyone so favorably on Founders Day.

SIGMA CHI SIGMA

Favorite Song: "Song of the Vagabonds."

Yell: Rah! Rah! Building and Loan!

Favorite type: Amateur politicians and semi-pro dancers.

Motto: Sigma Chi Sigma needs you!

Bray: We are the only fraternity on the campus that owns a house. If you will come down to the basement with us, we will show you the square inch which we own outright (subject only to first, second, third, and fourth mortgages.) We were the Tammany Hall of the campus until Brother Fransley turned over the reins to Brother Taylor, who owing to his arduous pursuit of the "ladies," spilt the beans. We have at least two outstanding men; you can always find Brother Howe outstanding in front of the Pi Phi house and Brother Lampe outstanding in front of the Sigma Kappa house. If you pledge, you can borrow anything, up to and including Brother Schanze's red tie, which is really a much prettier color than Murray Phillips' the pride of the K. A.'s. If you do become ours, you will have the distinction of being the first pledge in three years,—and if you are initiated, imagine our surprise!

DELTA SIGMA

Favorite Song: "Hail! Hail! Everybody's present!"

Motto: There is strength in Numbers.

Favorite types: Collegiate, athletic, and S. A. E.'s sons or distant relatives.

Favorite odor: B. O.

Bray: We are not a national, but it is not our fault; we have tried hard enough, and we will be tomorrow or the next day, if we don't run out of fraternities to petition. Join Delta Sig—everyone is doing it; don't be left out. In the meantime, Brother "Personality" Dennis will teach you how to cultivate the collegiate air. We are very partial to athletes, so, in order to help the dear old Alma Mater, we have scholarships for deserving football players, which render them immune from dues, rent, initiation fees, telephone calls, etc. If your interests lie elsewhere, Brother Cates will teach you how to become a Rhodes Scholar (or a Ward Politician on the Campus), or Brother Duffy will get you made a Student Manager or something, or Brother Johanboake will teach you in his own inimitable way how to be a big, rough, out-of-doors he-man. And Brother "Doc" Graham will teach you how to dance (if you're not particular how you do it). We will make you a big man on the campus; if we don't elect you the first time, Brother Brigman will provide you with a newer and cleaner election.

NU KAPPA NU

Favorite Song: "Wearing o' the Green."

Favorite Color: Irish Green.

Patron Saint: Saint Patrick.

Flower: The Shamrock.

Bray: In our own line, we have no competition; join us or be a non-fraternity man. Don't believe what Brother "Bucky" Baron says about fraternities; he is against fraternities on the "principle" of the thing (because they won't help him in his promotion schemes.) He has never succeeded in one of these schemes yet, but someday he will, and won't that be nice? Our fraternity goes in for all forms of campus activities, especially Inter-Fraternity Basketball.

PI BETA PHI

Chapter Song: "Ring Ching Ching."

Preferred type: The socially prominent daughters of wealthy families.

Motto: Be sure she can hold her liquor.

Bray: We are the original Pi Beta Phi "Fraternity," the socially elite, and the creme de la creme, (at least we were until those nasty Flighties came along. But good, kind Mrs. Hill will fix those old meanies for us, make no mistake about it. If you want to join a good "fraternity" join Pi Phi. We are improving all the time. Year before last, our motto was "Be sure it isn't rabbit fur"; last year it was, "Don't pledge till you see the name plate on the radiator;" and this year it is, "Be sure she can hold her liquor." Thus we see a very marked improvement in the motto of our group. Our "fraternity" has many advantages. If you join us, Betty Wooden can teach you how to become a great actress. Of course, you'll never be as great as she is—that's impossible; there is only one Betty Wooden—but anyhow, you'll get the advantage of her instruction. She can also teach you how to cultivate the "grand air" which is so stylish these days. Also, Louise Smart goes to all the dances, and she can show you how to be popular at all the school functions. And we can all teach you how to do the Pi Phi walk that is universally admired. We always have a few sophisticated-looking and cultured girls like Christine Clark and Elizabeth Trawick around the house to give it an air of refinement. If you pledge you will get at least one ride through town in Nancy Merke's Packard, and then you will simply be made socially, my dear!

SIGMA KAPPA

Favorite Song: "50,000,000 Sigma Kappas Can't be Wrong."

Chapter House: The Jefferson County Armory.

Preferred Type: Women students at the U. of L.

Ambition: To go national.

Bray to Freshman: We are the girl wonders—we are still wondering why we pledged so many freshmen last fall—and how we got them. We think we must be a good sorority, after all, or so many wouldn't have taken our pin. Last year we were beginning to have our doubts. Anyway, there are lots of advantages in being a Sigma Kappa. "Bunny" Bacchus can teach you how to go over big at dances. She is an authority on the subject as she has been going to dances for the last ten or fifteen years. If you want to learn how to swear in a ladylike (?) manner, Ann Hardin will be glad to teach you. And "Woody" Wilson can teach you any number of things. In years past, we ran to the "old fashioned girl" type, but now we have a well-balanced chapter, ranging from the healthy, athletic type such as Ruth Jenkins and Margaret Dryer to the social butterfly type such as "Woody" Wilson. And we are popular with the male sex; if you don't think so, just look at the number of Sigma Kappas that get married every year.

KAPPA DELTA

Chapter House: The Cardinal Inn.

Motto: K. D. A. O. T. (A Kiss in the Dark Any Old Time).

Favorite odor: Tobacco smoke.

Preferred types: (not particular).

Bray: We are national (at least, we think we are), but we haven't begun to feel the full effects of it yet. But just wait; we'll get some pledges away from the Pi Phis and Sigma Kappas yet. We have lots of good points, anyway. Don't believe what they say about us—we don't fight in meetings near as much as they say we do; not any worse than the rest, at all events. And there are lots of things you can learn by being a K. D. Marguerite Dalton can teach you how to build model sets for the plays over at the Playhouse, and get in good with "Pop" Martin. He is always raving about how good her models for "Paolo and Francesca" were. And Clara Mae Hartmetz, Margaret Montgomery, and Dot Boden can teach you how to talk; they have had a great deal of practice, and know all about it. And Esther Truman can teach you how to play hockey that delightful little game in which you wear a black sweater and white panties and run all over the country chasing a ball or something; it's just loads of fun. Anyhow, we girls have a grand time; we sit on the front porch of our house and wait for the boys to come and talk to us; Mrs. Hill won't let them come inside, but they can come up and sit on the porch. Then if they don't come, we go down to the Cardinal Inn and sit around and just have a wonderful time.

BETA SIGMA

Motto: Quality, not quantity.

Favorite odor: Chile.

Preferred types: Relatives of Chi Omegas.

Bray: We used to be the best sorority on the campus, and we still are good, only there aren't enough of us. However, we pledged four or five girls last fall, and we are hoping to get enough by next year so that we will have enough members to fill all the offices in the sorority. We are small and select so if you don't like crowds, join Beta Sig. You can learn lots of things from us. Estelle Ogle is a healthy out-of-doors girl, and can teach you how to play tennis, and all that sort of thing; Edna Mae Weaver, our cosmetic artist, can instruct you how to apply your rouge and lipstick in a tasteful manner, and also how to make a collection of fraternity pins. There is no truth in the rumor that she buys them at Louis Isaacs Pawn Shop. We really have a fine bunch of girls once you get to know them, and then, too, we may get Chi-O some day.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Publication: Themis, and the U. of L. News.

Bray: Well, here we are—the girl politicians of the campus. We elect our members to some office more consistently and efficiently than any other sorority. Also, we have the U. of L. News, so that if you pledge, your comings and goings will be narrated in the Society Column of that paper; every time you do anything, the campus will read about it. There are, it is true, one or two people on the Staff who are not Z. T. A.'s, but their girls are Z. T. A.'s, so that makes it all right. If you go with us, you will have lots of advantages. Sara Fisher and Sue Frances Perry will see that you get mentioned in the News; Frances Kennerly will work your math problems for you; and Virginia Leigh will see that your troubles get before the Student Government Board. We are the girls who rate with the T. N. E.'s, so if you want anything from them, we can help you. Five or six of our girls have T. N. E. pins, but they are from the brothers in the College of Liberal Arts, and are the 1929 Model, re-vamped, and purified T. N. E., so don't get a bad opinion of us. The Sigma Chi Sigmas may have given us our start in politics, but the Teeny-Weeneys have kept us going since.

EPSILON OMEGA

Song: None.

Motto: None.

Preferred type: None.

Bray to Freshman: We are the Epsilon Omegas (Eppies for short) and next to the Beta Sigs we are the oldest local on the campus; however, we are seriously considering going national. We used to be the highest ranking sorority in scholarship, until the Psi Deltas came along; but they beat us out, so we decided to go in for other things. And we have done remarkably well. In fact, one of our girls got the leading part in one of the Players Club productions, and we have decided to join the Club in a body next year and see if we can't take away the control of it from the Pi Phis and K. D.'s. We are doing everything to improve our chapter, and we expect to get a medal for improvement some day (especially if Dr. Patterson has anything to do with giving it.)

DELTA ZETA

Song: "Give us a little kiss, will yuh, huh?"

Motto: (Unknown)

Yell: Rah! Rah! Dizzies!

Preferred type: (not particular, but the dizzier the better.)

Bray to Freshmen: Come one, come all! Here we are! We are the girls who are really out for a good time. That's how we got the name "Dizzies." Of course, we have a few that aren't so dizzy, but we have to have a few girls who will study in the chapter to keep up the scholastic standing, because the rest of us never crack a book. But we don't care—we didn't come to the University for that purpose. So come on, girls, everybody join up! There are lots of advantages in being a D. Z. For one thing, you will get to know all the Phi Chis down at Medical School, and they certainly are a fine bunch of boys. Then too, our house isn't far from the Cardinal Inn, so that we can loaf over there all day and play the nickel victrola. So come on, girls, break down and pledge; stop around at the house some day, and get a pledge pin. (P. S.) (There is no truth in the statement our rivals made about us, to wit, that our pin is in the shape of a lamp because we are lit up so often.)

PSI DELTA

Favorite Song: "Phi Beta Kappa for Aye!"

Favorite odor: The smell of old, musty text-books.

Preferred type: Potential Phi Beta Kappas.

Bray to Freshmen: If your family won't let you join a sorority because they think it will keep you from studying, come around and see us. We are the original, one-and-only, low-loss, underslung, grade A, super-de-luxe students. We have got the Pi Phis, with all their efforts to keep up their scholarship, back completely off the boards. It is true, they did win the scholarship cup one year, but that was before we really got under way. And we have even forced the Epsilon Omegas to go in for other lines of activity. As for other activities, we had a girl once who played tennis (or some sort of outdoor game.)

PHI ALPHA

Song: (Same as Nu Kappa Nu, only much better).

Motto: (under consideration.)

Yell: (Not yet decided on).

Flower: The Irish Rose.

Bray to Freshmen: We are one of the youngest sororities on the campus, and yet none of them, Pi Phi, K. D., Sigma Kappa, or any of the rest, has ever taken a pledge away from us. Delta Phi Epsilon may have gotten one or two away from us, but that's because they say they're a National (although we haven't any proof of it.) We have some beautiful girls in our chapter, and we have other advantages; but come around to the house sometime (if you can find it) and join up, unless you want to be a Delta Phi Epsilon or a non-sorority girl.

DENTAL SCANDAL

Ray Albers—"Daddy Al." Cold turkey from the Buckeye state. "When do we eat?" Stomach thinks his throat has been cut. Specialty—not drawing music from a saxophone.

J. W. Batts—"Jones." Just a little ray of sunshine. Sober—in speech. White, single, and handsome.

References on request. Thinks Al Smith should have been elected.

Roy T. Bovard—"Daylight." Married—but happy. Shadow expert of the class. Has a clean upper lip at intervals.

E. J. Brennan—"Bruiser." Small, but the girls like 'em that way. Sure am a smart man Mr. Goldie. Friendly son of St. Patrick.

Oscar Newton Burgess—"Hickory." Accustomed to city life, but yearns for the wild farm animals. Hear anything? Brings instructors to school in his Ford. Just a little country boy trying to get along.

George Anson Calaway—"Hali Zip" Can keep a secret. Married a year before we knew it. Does his share to raise the average level of the class intelligence.

M. J. Crawford—"Judd." Arrives punctually five minutes late every morning. Possibly interested in research. Favorite pastime—plugging foil. Big Physician.

O. A. Combs—"Canary" is "So Tired" of clinical foot work. Bears attitude of modern theatre usher towards his patients. Remember that gold foil-inlay debate? Married and admits it.

M. A. Gorman—"Endo" has all his teeth—some on dentures. Still single-though tired of being happy. Never argues with his patients.

C. L. Kennedy—"Lem" will argue any point at any time of the day or night. Should make a good husband—knows his groceries.

Howard W. Kaurish—"Itchybey-Kayso four." Expert on afternoon tea etiquette. Favorite expression—"Got a penny?"

H. R. Mayhall—"Levy" has decided to be a dentist. A genius at dissecting dogs and breaking thru the opposing line. One hundred and eighty pounds of beef and good nature.

J. E. Raike—"Swift and Silent Cook." Smokes but never buys. Very seldom heard—talks in a low monotone. Has never been arrested. Authority on hunting and fishing.

Oscar Rosen—Bald spot in parietal region. "Suitcase Simpson" of class. Looks professional in a clean coat and wearing glasses.

David Rosenzweig—"Scotty" is full of nervous activity. A big man for his size. "What d'ya mean?" Minds his own business. Should be successful.

A. M. Snyder—"Hey, Hey." Author of "How to keep that school-girl complexion." Objects strongly to his original middle name.

Max Stern—"Manube." Would be well liked if he wouldn't try to sing. Favorite expression "Have I told you this one before? It seems there was a— —" get it?

Veronica Tierney—Persecution! Pleasingly plump. Surviving five years of merciless kidding. Doesn't like the "army."

H. L. Lopp—"La Palina" made good after several years vacation. Built close to the ground. Watches the traffic on Brook Street.
